- If you want to access material without logging in - log in as a guest. Guest login provides limited content and privileges.

Changing password and personal profile

From the username at the top right of the screen, pick up preferences from the menu to get a screen where you can make changes in your profile

The screenshot shows the e-Abhigyan website interface. At the top right, the user's name "Prashant Soni" is displayed next to a profile picture. A red circle highlights this area, and a red arrow points to the "Preferences" option in the dropdown menu. The main content area includes a "Welcome" message, a search bar, and a list of courses. A large yellow arrow points downwards from the "Preferences" option to the next screenshot.

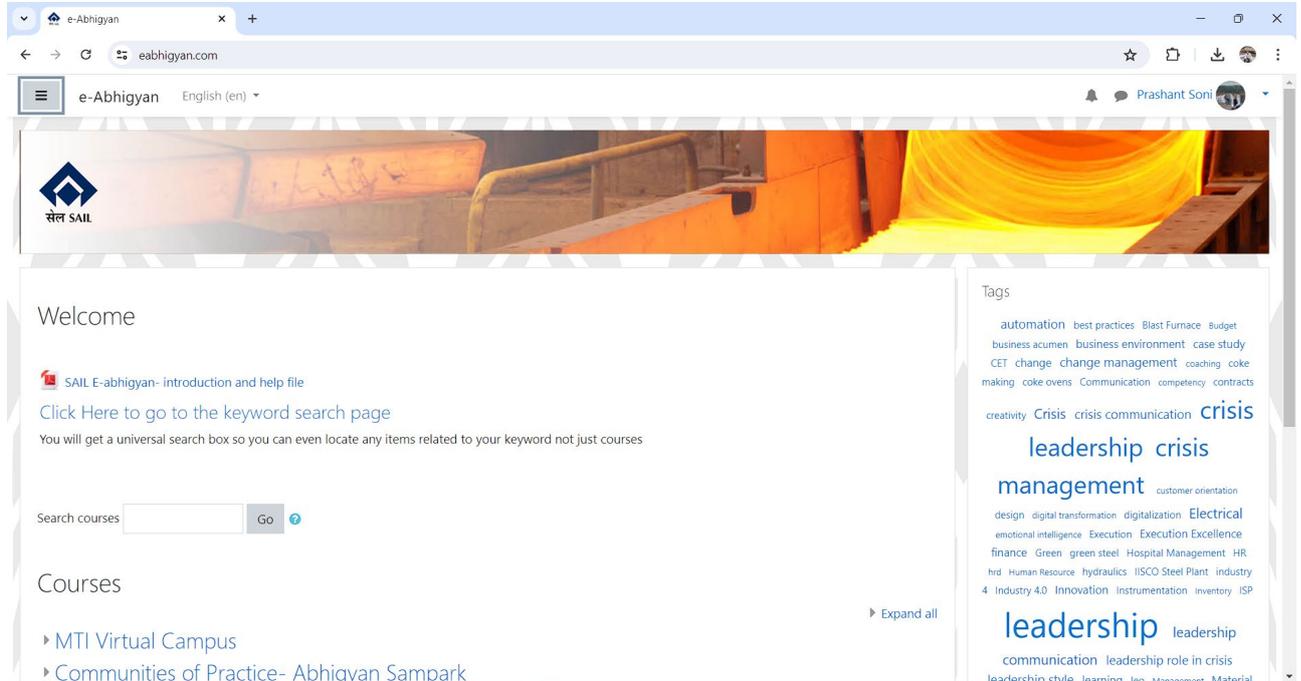

The screenshot shows the "Preferences" page of the e-Abhigyan website. The page is divided into three main sections: "User account", "Repositories", and "Blogs". The "User account" section includes options like "Edit profile", "Change password", "Preferred language", "Forum preferences", "Editor preferences", "Course preferences", "Calendar preferences", "Message preferences", and "Notification preferences". The "Repositories" section includes "Manage instances". The "Blogs" section includes "Blog preferences", "External blogs", and "Register an external blog". There is also a "Badges" section with "Manage badges".

Here You may change your password, Put Profile Photograph, Course preferences etc.

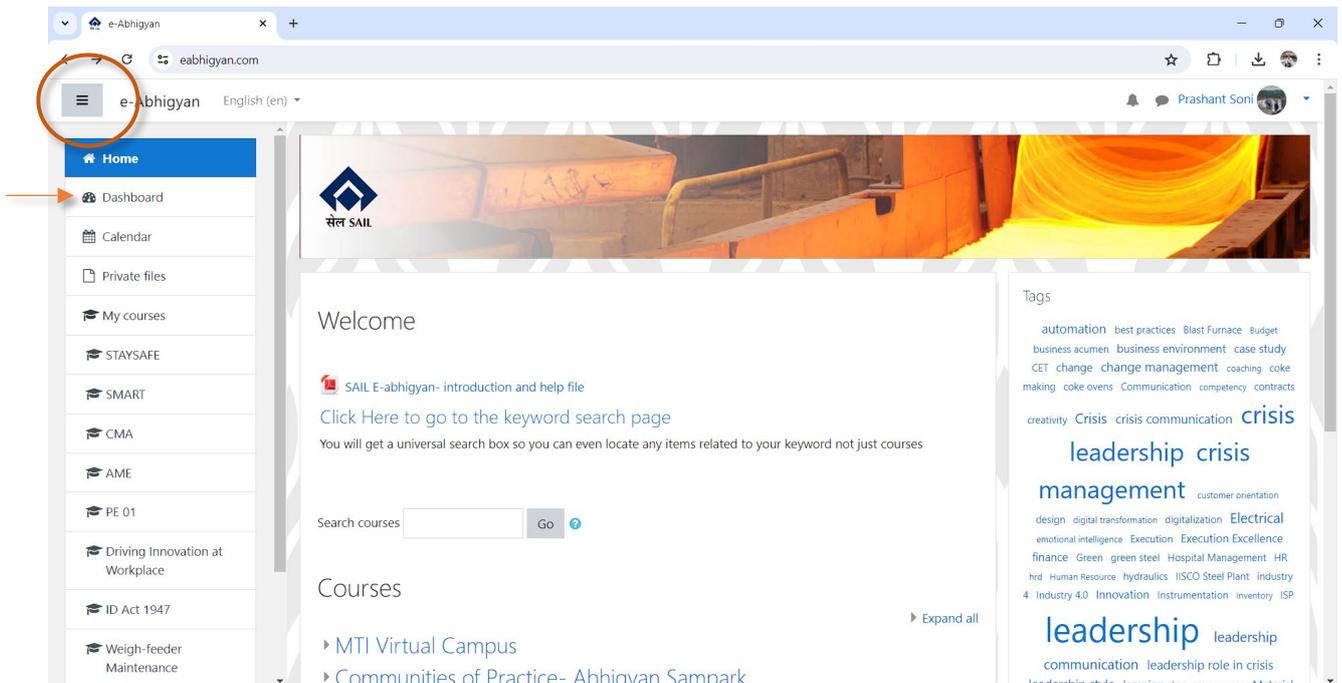

You may Update other details as well, especially your email.

First Screen on logging in

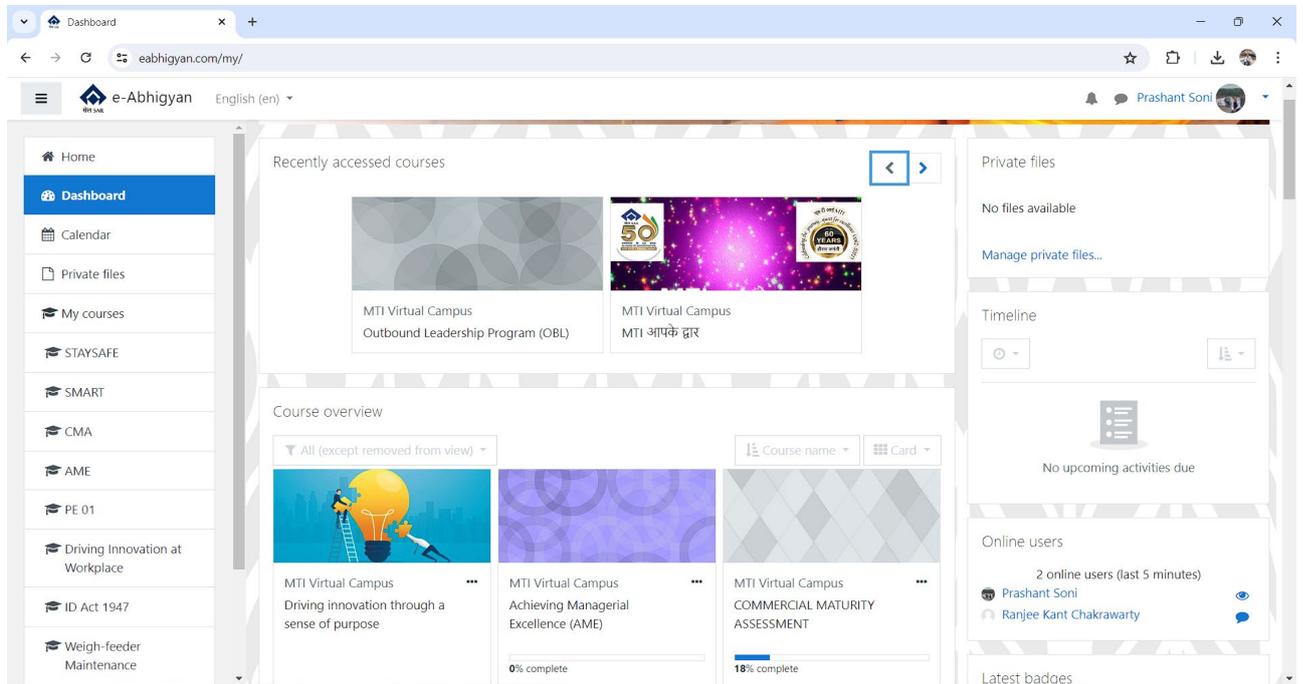

You are directed to the frontpage, from where you may search for courses or go to desired categories and Plant/Unit Virtual Campus. On the right side, Tags are visible, which can take you to resources available on site, related to that particular word.

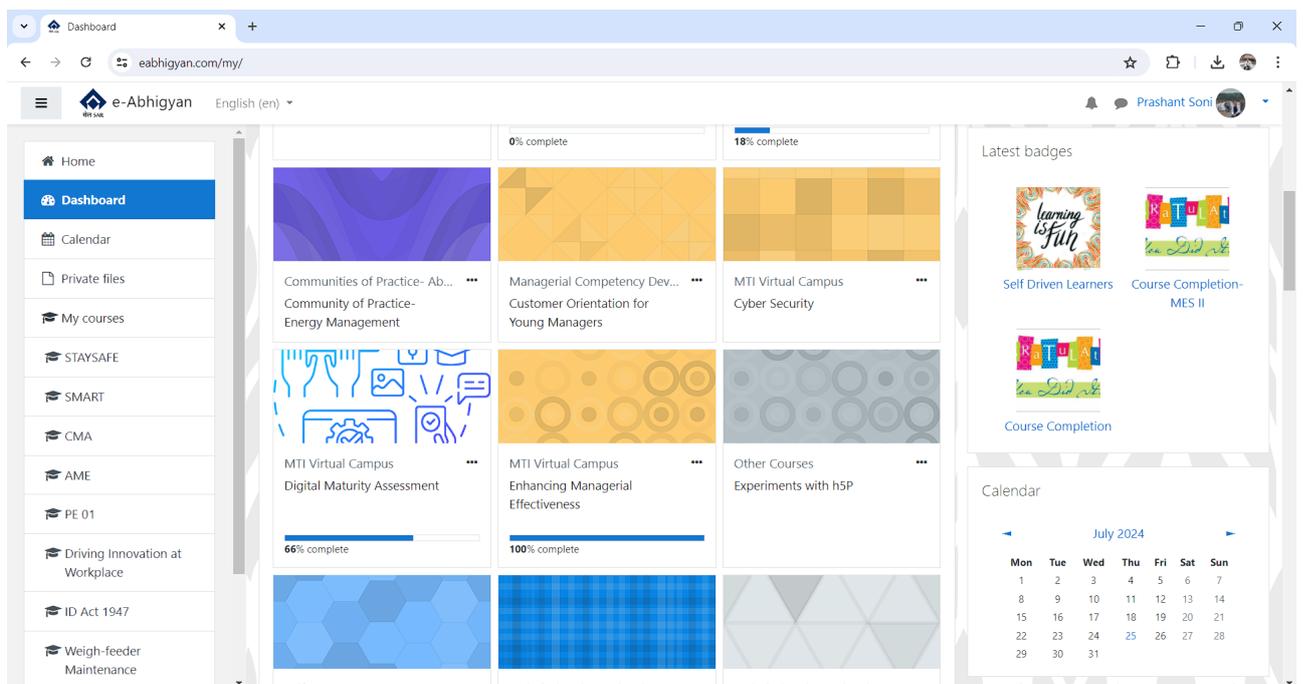

You may also show/hide (toggle) the navigation bar by clicking on the three horizontal bars on the top-left corner. From here you can go to your dashboard or directly to any course you are enrolled in

Your Dashboard shows you the recent courses you took, the courses you are subscribed to and also anything that is pending in them, percentage of completion or new developments. You can also see other users logged in.

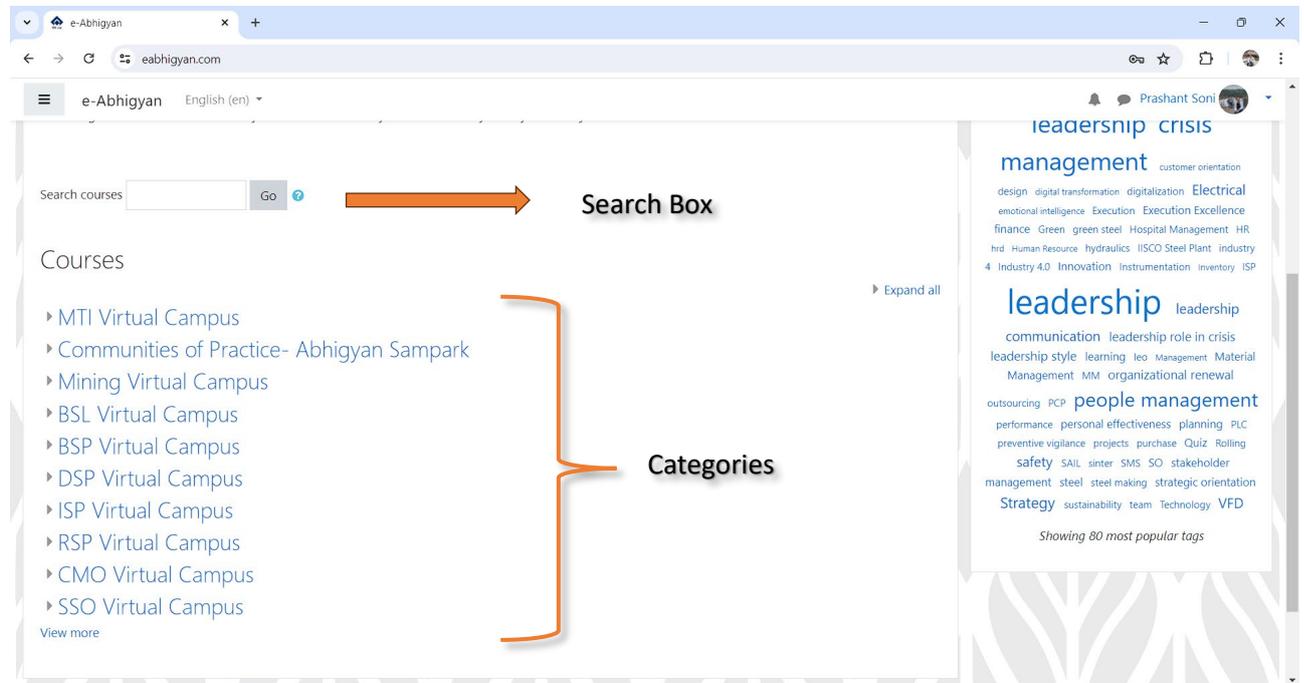

Any badges earned by you for completing courses or quizzes or any other activities, are also visible on your dashboard. Any activity scheduled by your course teachers are also marked on the calendar shown on your dashboard. Any upcoming events are also notified here.

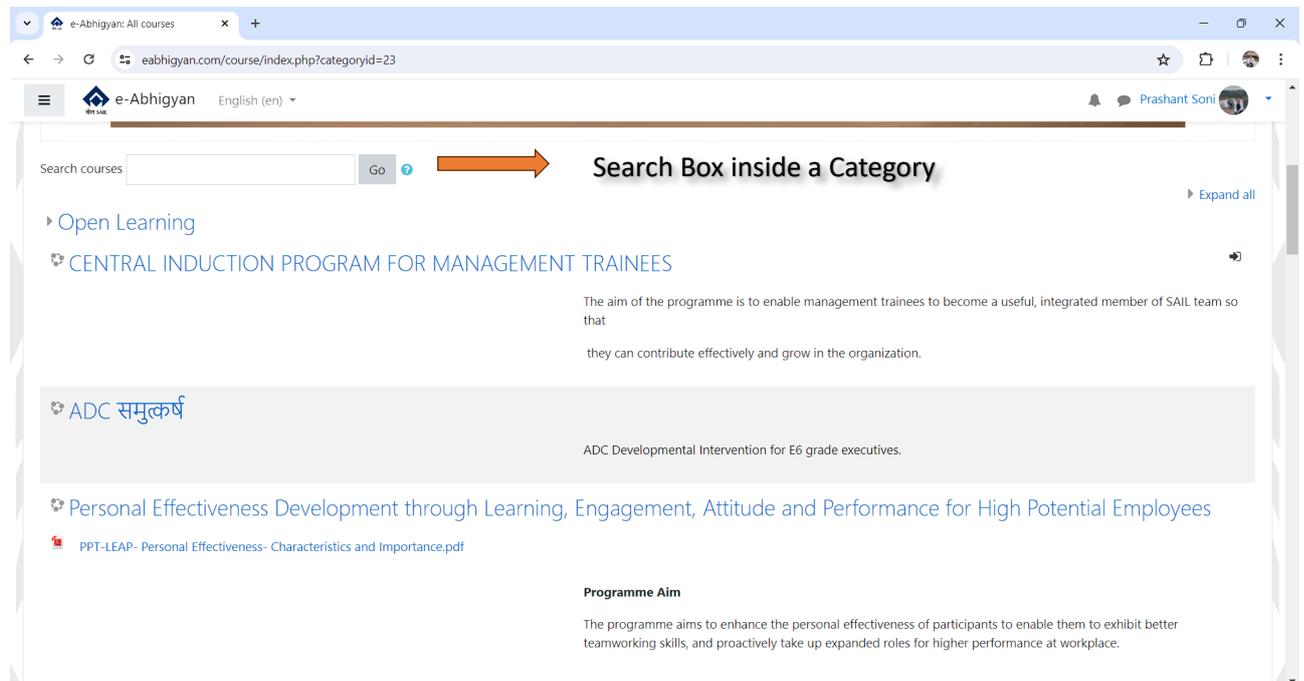

Categories and Courses in eAbhigyan

Categories are a top-level breakup up of the courses in the site and a navigation tool

There can be subcategories within categories, but in eAbhigyan, categories have been kept in only one level with courses within each category

The search box (available on the frontpage and inside each category) can be used to locate courses directly rather than searching through categories

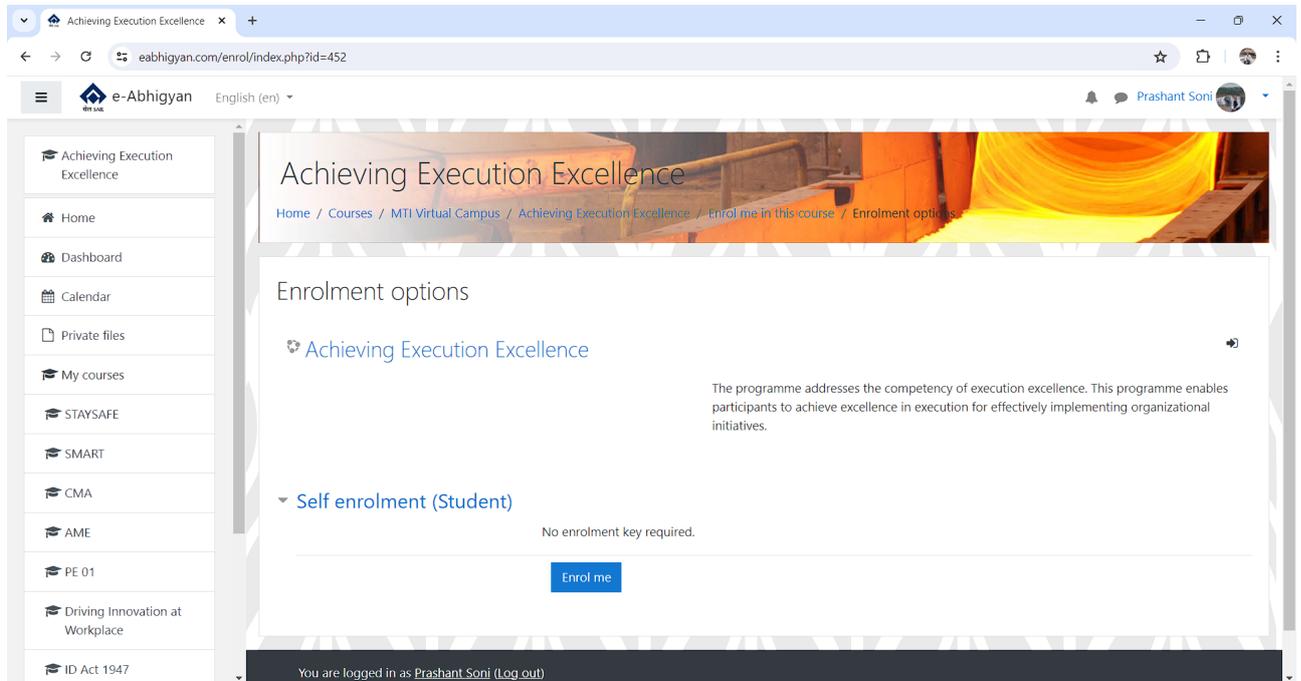

A Course can be searched by their Title, Tag or Description.

Navigating within a course

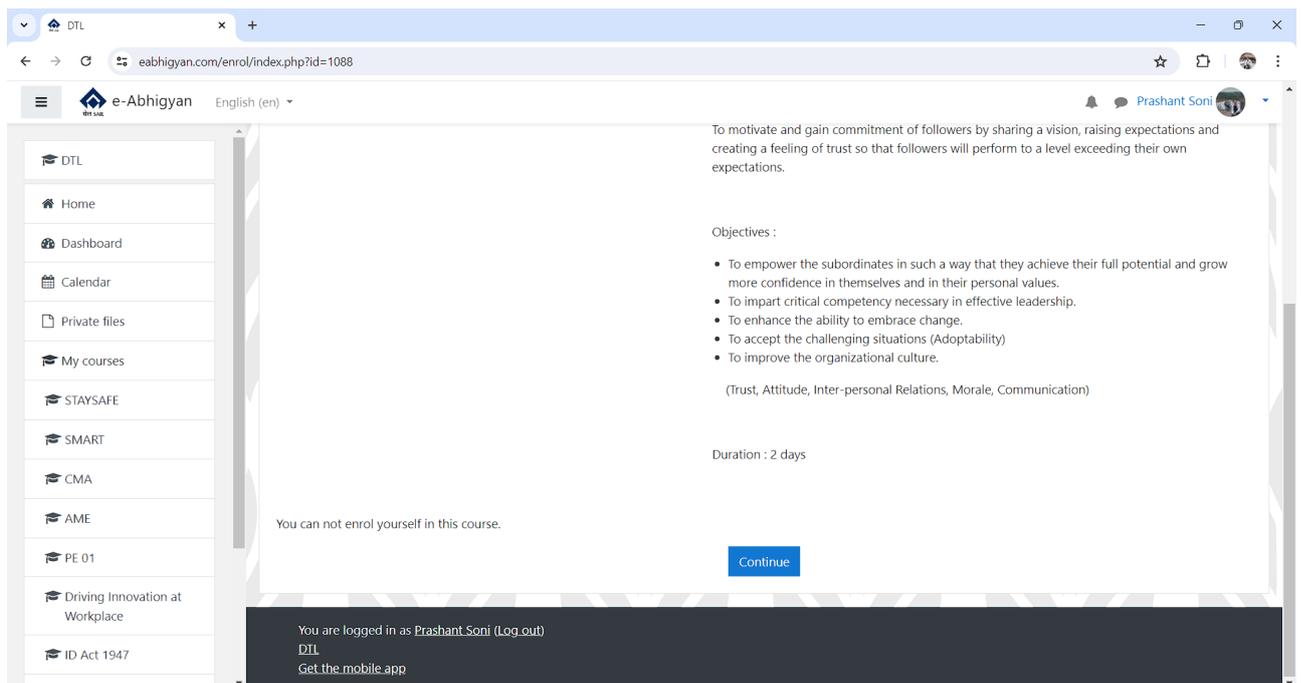

You can access any course by clicking on the Course Title shown inside the category or in the search result.

After you enter a course, you may be required to enrol yourself in that course, by clicking on the button at the bottom of the course or on the top left. In some cases, you may be required to provide an enrolment key or password to enrol yourself in a course. This key shall be provided to you by your course coordinator.

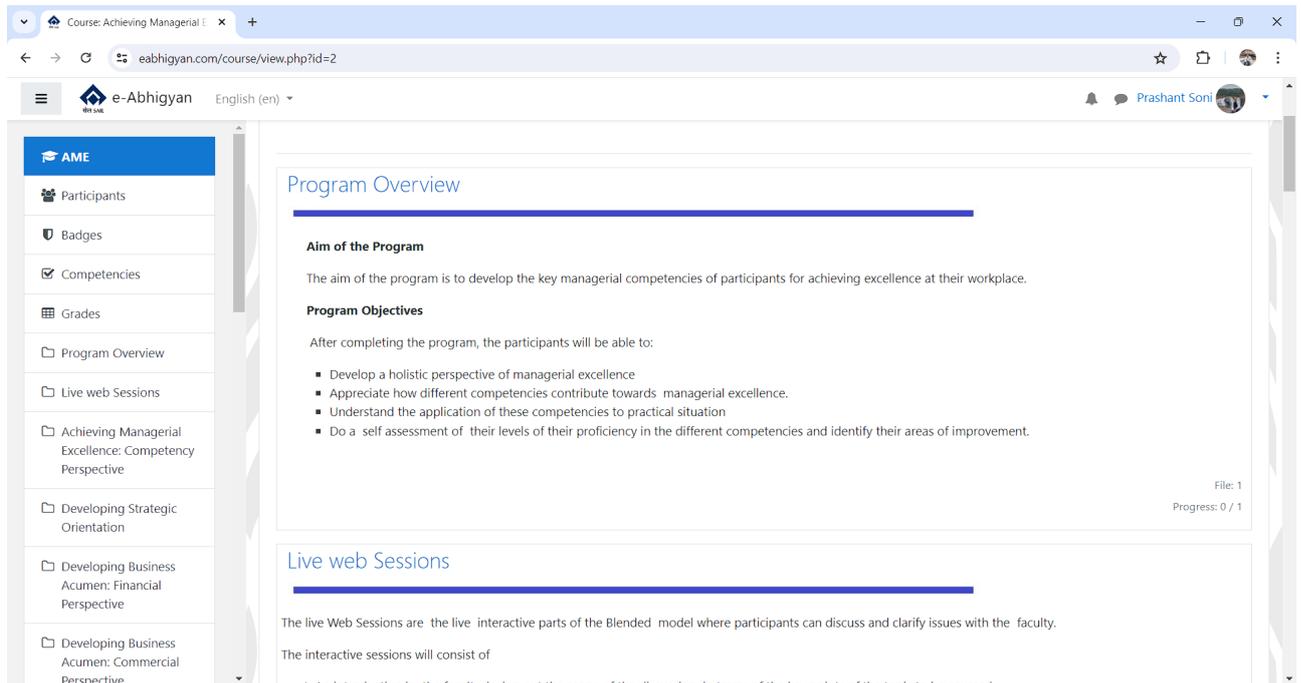

The screenshot shows a web browser window with the URL `eabhigyan.com/enrol/index.php?id=452`. The page title is "Achieving Execution Excellence". The left sidebar contains a navigation menu with items like Home, Dashboard, Calendar, Private files, My courses, STAYSAFE, SMART, CMA, AME, PE 01, Driving Innovation at Workplace, and ID Act 1947. The main content area features a header image of a factory interior. Below the header, the text "Enrolment options" is displayed. A section titled "Achieving Execution Excellence" provides a description: "The programme addresses the competency of execution excellence. This programme enables participants to achieve excellence in execution for effectively implementing organizational initiatives." Underneath, there is a section for "Self enrolment (Student)" with the note "No enrolment key required." and a prominent blue "Enrol me" button. At the bottom of the page, a footer indicates the user is logged in as "Prashant.Soni" with a "Log out" link.

There are some courses where enrolment is not open to everyone, as they are closed group or specific purpose courses.

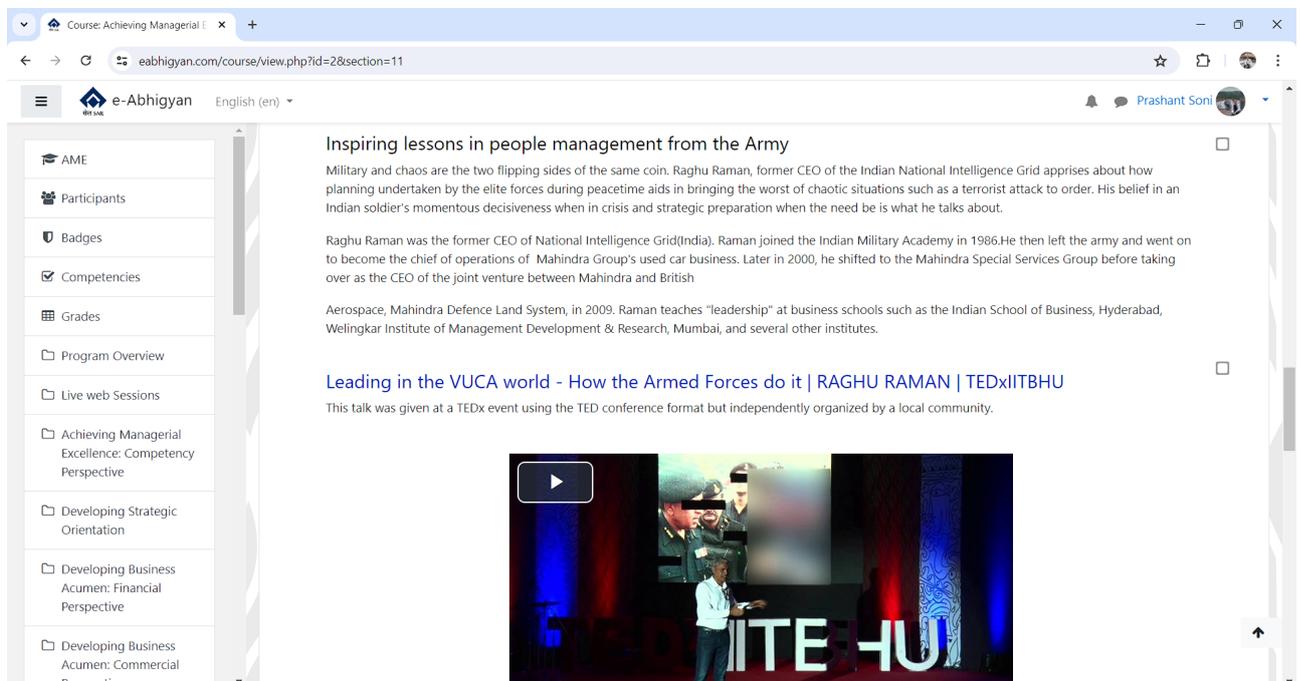

The screenshot shows a web browser window with the URL `eabhigyan.com/enrol/index.php?id=1088`. The page title is "DTL". The left sidebar is identical to the previous screenshot. The main content area displays the course details for "DTL". It includes a description: "To motivate and gain commitment of followers by sharing a vision, raising expectations and creating a feeling of trust so that followers will perform to a level exceeding their own expectations." Below this, the "Objectives" are listed as a bulleted list: "To empower the subordinates in such a way that they achieve their full potential and grow more confidence in themselves and in their personal values.", "To impart critical competency necessary in effective leadership.", "To enhance the ability to embrace change.", "To accept the challenging situations (Adoptability)", and "To improve the organizational culture." A note in parentheses follows: "(Trust, Attitude, Inter-personal Relations, Morale, Communication)". The "Duration" is stated as "2 days". At the bottom of the course details, a message reads "You can not enrol yourself in this course." with a blue "Continue" button. The footer shows the user is logged in as "Prashant.Soni" with a "Log out" link, and also includes links for "DTL" and "Get the mobile app".

Once enrolled in a course, the full course material shall be visible to you. Depending on the layout of the course you may go to each section by scrolling down or one at a time by clicking on next topic.

The screenshot shows a web browser window displaying the 'e-Abhigyan' course interface. The browser address bar shows 'eabhigyan.com/course/view.php?id=2'. The page title is 'Course: Achieving Managerial Excellence'. The left sidebar contains a navigation menu with items: AME, Participants, Badges, Competencies, Grades, Program Overview, Live web Sessions, Achieving Managerial Excellence: Competency Perspective, Developing Strategic Orientation, Developing Business Acumen: Financial Perspective, and Developing Business Acumen: Commercial Perspective. The main content area is titled 'Program Overview' and includes sections for 'Aim of the Program' (aiming to develop key managerial competencies), 'Program Objectives' (developing a holistic perspective, appreciating competencies, understanding application, and self-assessment), and 'Live web Sessions' (interactive parts of the Blended model). A progress indicator shows 'File: 1' and 'Progress: 0 / 1'.

You will find different types of resources within a course such as - forums, videos, quizzes, resources like web pages, ebooks, SCORM packages etc.

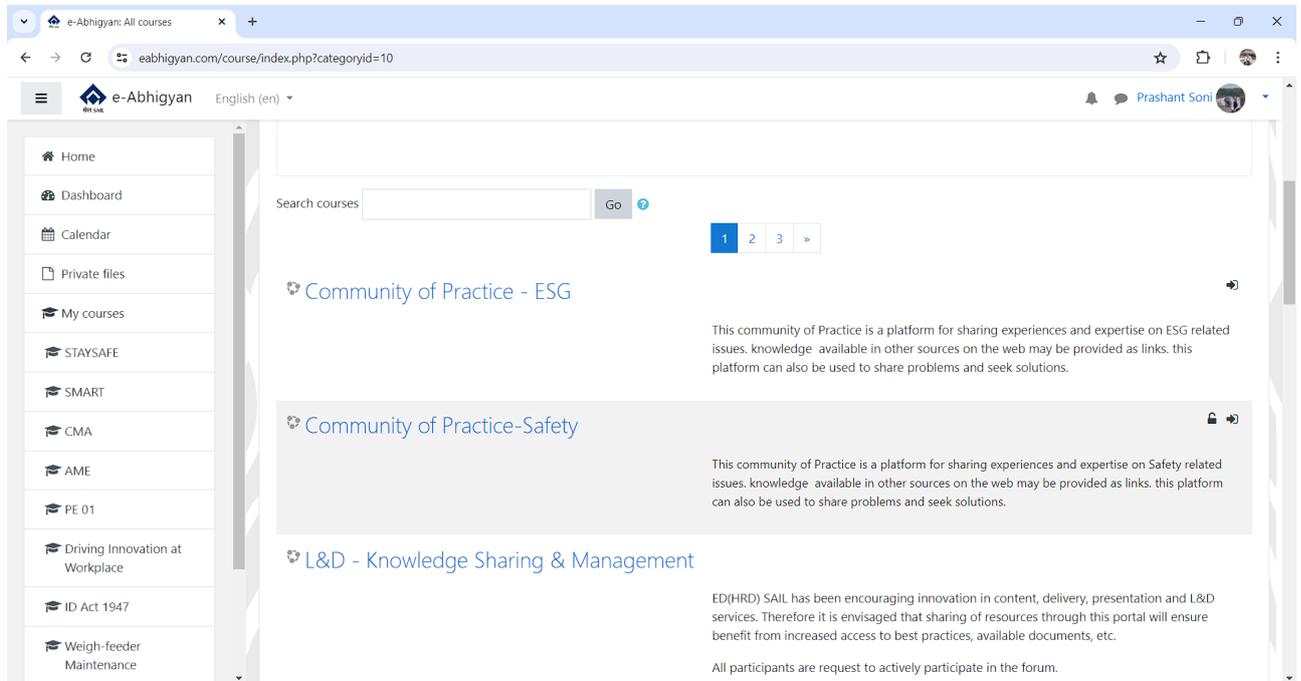

The screenshot shows the same 'e-Abhigyan' course interface, but now displaying a video resource. The browser address bar shows 'eabhigyan.com/course/view.php?id=2§ion=11'. The main content area is titled 'Inspiring lessons in people management from the Army' and features a video player. The video title is 'Leading in the VUCA world - How the Armed Forces do it | RAGHU RAMAN | TEDxIITBHU'. The video description mentions Raghu Raman, former CEO of the Indian National Intelligence Grid, and his experience in the Indian Military Academy. The video player shows a man in a white shirt speaking on a stage with a large 'IIT BHU' logo in the background.

Depending on the course, you may be required to take on Pre and/or Post Assessment Quiz. Depending on your score and completion criteria, some courses offer Completion Certificates and sometimes accomplishment badges. In most courses, you can submit your feedback regarding different aspects of the courses.

Other Features

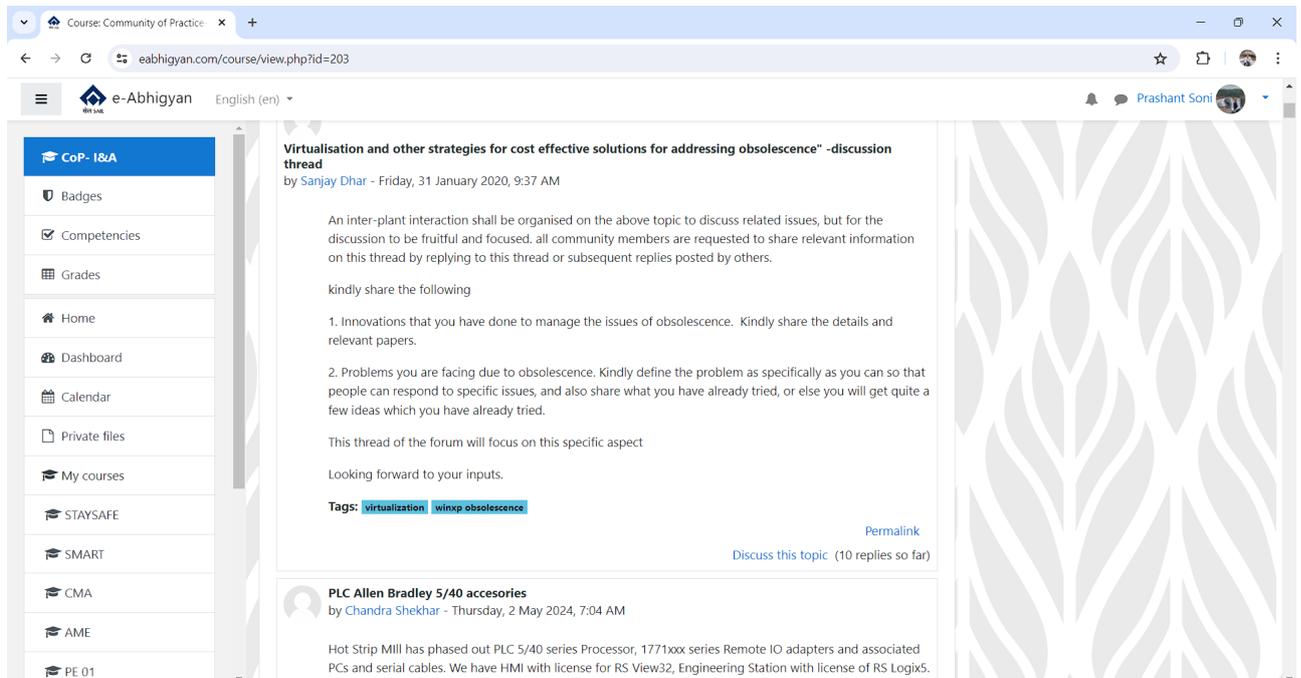

Besides regular courses, a user can participate in Forums. Inside Forums – you can read posts by other users on relevant topics and reply to them. As a participating member, you can become part of a community in Community of Practices Category. It is also possible to start your own discussion forum for discussing on different areas of work and life.

The screenshot shows the e-Abhigyan website interface. The top navigation bar includes the site logo, language selection (English (en)), and user profile (Prashant Soni). A sidebar on the left lists various course categories: Home, Dashboard, Calendar, Private files, My courses, STAYS SAFE, SMART, CMA, AME, PE 01, Driving Innovation at Workplace, ID Act 1947, and Weigh-feeder Maintenance. The main content area features a search bar for courses and a list of three active communities:

- Community of Practice - ESG: A platform for sharing experiences and expertise on ESG related issues. Knowledge available in other sources on the web may be provided as links. This platform can also be used to share problems and seek solutions.
- Community of Practice-Safety: A platform for sharing experiences and expertise on Safety related issues. Knowledge available in other sources on the web may be provided as links. This platform can also be used to share problems and seek solutions.

The screenshot shows a forum discussion thread on the e-Abhigyan website. The top navigation bar and sidebar are consistent with the previous screenshot. The main content area displays a discussion thread titled "Virtualisation and other strategies for cost effective solutions for addressing obsolescence" -discussion thread, posted by Sanjay Dhar on Friday, 31 January 2020, 9:37 AM.

The thread content includes:

- An inter-plant interaction shall be organised on the above topic to discuss related issues, but for the discussion to be fruitful and focused, all community members are requested to share relevant information on this thread by replying to this thread or subsequent replies posted by others.
- Kindly share the following:
 - Innovations that you have done to manage the issues of obsolescence. Kindly share the details and relevant papers.
 - Problems you are facing due to obsolescence. Kindly define the problem as specifically as you can so that people can respond to specific issues, and also share what you have already tried, or else you will get quite a few ideas which you have already tried.
- This thread of the forum will focus on this specific aspect.
- Looking forward to your inputs.
